

Our own Lillie Biggins was the featured speaker at the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce, Women Influencing Business Luncheon held on March 21, 2013 at the Fort Worth Club. Lillie entertained, informed, and inspired the audience with information about the new initiatives of Texas Health Harris Methodist Hospital including the new 75,000 sq. ft. Emergency Center slated to be completed by the end of 2013; plans for OR, ICU, Trauma and Ambulance training simulators, complete with mannequins that mimic actual symptoms; and, a new Geriatric Center to address the needs of Fort Worth's growing population of senior citizens. She also shared stories of her life and described how her Christian faith provides the foundation that allows her to dream big. Of particular relevance to Workforce Development, Lillie shared her advice to anyone who asks her how to get ahead—be faithful to the job that you have, do your very best and be grateful for that opportunity and someone will notice. Her comments moved us all to be proud of "The Fort Worth Way", which she defined simply by saying, "we take care of each other".
